

Building Developmental Assets in School Communities

Training of Trainers

This Training of Trainers event prepares participants to effectively deliver the popular workshop, Building Developmental Assets in School Communities.

With guidance from a master trainer, you'll learn effective presentation techniques, alternative strategies for delivery, and methods for addressing participant questions. A detailed training curriculum helps you spread the message further, faster, and easier using your own capacity to sustain the momentum within your school system.

Key content:

- Learn how to organize and facilitate a one-day asset-building workshop for your staff.
- Learn how to accurately and effectively field questions from participants.
- Gain a deeper understanding of how to create developmentally rich school communities.
- Receive reference and recommended resources that will help participants implement Developmental Asset® strategies in the school community.

Materials: The Asset Approach and Your Classroom booklets and 150 Ways to Show Kids You Care mini-poster. Each individual or team can also purchase the Training Resource Library (optional)—$415 plus shipping, a $600 value. The library includes Search Institute publications to help educators build assets.

All library materials are packaged in a rolling backpack to provide ease in transporting to training locations (view a complete library list at www.search-institute.org/training/sessions).

Who should attend:

Educators who have credibility with and connect to their colleagues, are youth/child centered, are innovative, possess strong training skills, and have the commitment, energy, and confidence to serve in a training role within a school system.

Length: Two days

CEU (Continuing Education Units) are available. 14 hours of training with a Certificate of Participation.

“A very well designed TOT (and I have been to many). This was one of the best delivered by an engaging and empathetic trainer who inspires by modeling everything they stand for. Thank you!”
