Search Institute speakers inspire people to take action for and with young people. The information they impart is practical and rooted in science. Search Institute is an international leader in the field of positive youth development, with over 50 years of studying what young people need to succeed. Our speakers bring that wisdom and experience to life, giving both youth and adults practical strategies to improve the health and vitality of their organizations and communities.

Areas of Focus: positive youth development, school improvement and academic achievement, community engagement, parenting, adolescent brain development, Developmental Assets®, and more!
