“Jim is exceptional. . . . He presented valuable information that I plan to take back and demonstrate in my organization.”

—Event host, Albany, GA

Jim Conway

Empowered youth, inspired adults, improved organizations and community . . . it all starts here!

Jim Conway has over 20 years of experience speaking to audiences of all ages. His engaging approach draws you in, the strength of his message provides hope and inspiration, and his genuine humor engages the soul. Jim’s personable and dynamic presentations explain how science can inform our efforts on behalf of young people. His message is grounded in both research and his direct experience as a street youth-worker and former staff member of the Center for Early Adolescence, and he has enlivened conferences throughout North America and abroad.
