BUILDING DEVELOPMENTAL ASSETS IN SCHOOL COMMUNITIES

TRAINING OF TRAINERS

Invest in your school's future by learning to deliver this inspiring workshop.

In this two-day Training of Trainers, trainers, teachers, administrators, and staff will learn to effectively deliver one of Search Institute's most popular workshops. By participating in this Training of Trainers, participants will be able to:

- Successfully organize and facilitate a one-day asset-building workshop for school staff titled Building Developmental Assets in School Communities.
- Accurately and effectively field questions from participants.
- Reference and recommend resources that will help participants.
- Gain a deeper understanding of how to create developmentally-rich school communities.
- Verify 14 hours of training through a Certificate of Participation.

Who should attend: This Training of Trainers is not designed to give you basic skills for training in general or certify you as a general or Search Institute trainer.

Register Early! Space is limited!

Marilyn Peplau SEARCH INSTITUTE TRAINER

Marilyn brings a wealth of community and education-specific experience to her work as a trainer for Search Institute. With over 26 years of professional school experience including serving as a high school teacher and guidance counselor, Marilyn trains, speaks, and designs training programs—and she has contributed to countless Search Institute resources and authored Your Classroom booklets. She brings a passionate commitment to children and youth to all her Developmental Assets work. You'll quickly see how she's earned the nickname "Pep!"
